

EUROPEAN FOREIGN AFFAIRS REVIEW

Volume 21

October 2016

Special Issue

Introduction: Perils of US-China Confrontation - Implications for Europe	Reinhard Wolf, Markus Liegl & Sebastian Biba	1
The European Union and China's Multidimensional Diplomacy: Strategic Triangulation?	Nele Noesselt	11
European Policies Towards China and the United States: Can They Support a Strategic Triad?	Hanns W. Maull	29
Global Governance in the Era of Growing US-China Rivalry: What Options Exist for Europe?	Sebastian Biba	47
Need Disputes Turn into Armed Conflicts? East Asia's Maritime Conflicts in a New Environment: Consequences for the European Union	Volker Stanzel	65
Power Shifts and Tensions in East Asia: Implications for European Security	Martin Wagener	81
Europe in Asia: Policy Options of an Interested Bystander	Sven Bernhard Gareis & Markus B. Liegl	99
Emulating Ostpolitik : A Template for Regional Conflict Resolution in East Asia	Christian Tuschhoff	117
Home Alone? The US Pivot to Asia and Its Implications for the EU's Common Security and Defence Policy	Sven Bernhard Gareis & Reinhard Wolf	133